The Story and You™

Sacred Conversation

Third Sunday in Ordinary time

It's a call narrative. That's the name given to the account of how two sets of brothers, all fishermen, literally dropped everything and followed a man they hadn't even met yet. I'll bet Zebedee (the father of James and John) was thrilled when his sons just left the nets they were mending on the boat and abandoned him and the family business. James and John were called "the sons of thunder," which may give us an idea of the kind of temper Zebedee possessed. I'm glad I wasn't around for that. Another theory suggests that any Jewish father would have been honored to have his sons called by the famous rabbi Jesus. Rabbinic texts from the first century offer many examples of the prestige bestowed on a man whom a rabbi called to be his disciple. It was considered a huge honor to walk away from everything you knew in order to study with a teacher of the Law. Since all the apostles answered this radical call, is it possible that Jesus was already known by the Galilean community before he called the Twelve?

We all have a call narrative, a story we love to tell about how we knew what we wanted to do with our lives, or where we wanted to live, or the first time we met a dear friend or our spouse. Those are the sacred stories we tell at wedding receptions, at reunions, and at funerals. But there has never been an encounter like the day Jesus called four guys in two boats. His voice soared from the shore to the sea. "Come after me," he said. If you listen, you can hear it still.

What is the favorite call story of your life?

La Historia y Usted™

Conversaciones Sagradas

Tercer Domingo de Tiempo Ordinario
Se le llama narrativa. Ese es el nombre que se le da al recuento de cómo dos pares de hermanos, todos pescadores, literalmente dejaron caer todo y se fueron a seguir a un hombre a quien todavía no habían conocido. Apuesto a que Zebedeo, (el padre de Santiago y Juan) se puso contentísimo cuando sus hijos dejaron las redes que habían estado remendando en el barco y lo abandonaron a él y al negocio familiar. Santiago y Juan eran llamados "los hijos del trueno", lo cual nos da una idea del tipo de temperamento que tenía Zebedeo. Me alegro de no haber vivido en esa época.

Otra teoría sugiere que cualquier padre Judío se hubiese sentido honrado de que sus hijos fuesen llamados por el famoso rabino Jesús. Los textos rabínicos del primer siglo nos ofrecen muchos ejemplos del prestigio otorgado a algún hombre que era llamado por un rabino para ser su discípulo. Era considerado un gran honor el dejar todo lo que conocías para poder estudiar con un maestro de la Ley. Ya que todos los apóstoles dijeron sí a este llamado radical, ¿Será posible que Jesús ya era bien conocido por la comunidad Galilea antes de que llamara a los Doce?

Todos tenemos una narrativa de nuestro llamado, una historia que nos encanta contar acerca de cómo sabíamos lo que queríamos hacer con nuestras vidas, o donde queríamos vivir, o de cuando conocimos a un amigo querido o a nuestro conyugue. Esas son las historias sagradas que contamos en las bodas, en las reuniones, y en los funerales. Pero nunca ha existido un encuentro como aquel día en que Jesús llamo a cuatro tipos en dos barcos. Su voz resonó desde la orilla hacia el mar. -Vengan y síganme,- les dijo. Si escuchas, todavía podrás oírlo.
